CORONAVIRUS UPDATE

Dear Readers:

Since the spring issue of the alumni magazine went to press, the world-wide contagion has affected two events we have reported on inside.

1. “Fiddler on the Roof,” the spring musical scheduled for late April, may be postponed or canceled.

According to theatre director Jim Peerenboom, “We’re in the waiting game. If we really do return after the 28th (April) to the building, then there’s a chance we can get in at least one performance. If they keep school canceled, then it’s a done deal. For now I’m telling students to keep working on their lines/music and keep hope.”

2. The Constitution team will not be going to Washington, DC in April to compete for the national championship.

Although in-person meeting has been canceled, coach Alison Brody said, “There is some virtual competition that the Center for Civic Education is trying to develop, but we’ll see. I feel terrible for this year’s team and hope everything is back on track by next spring.”

Check the alumni website for updates - and stay healthy.
